FGM Class of 1990

"These are the times to remember"

The F. G. Miller High School's Class of 1990 made last Saturday, May 19, truly a "time to remember," with a sunfilled day blessing their Graduation Exercises.

Forty one graduands filed on-stage to the strains of the Water Fountain love theme from "The Secret Of My Success," and stood framed by a rainbow of aqua, blue and pearl grey balloons to receive the lengthy burst of applause from families and friends who filled the auditorium for the occasion.

Shelley Bespalko and Lisa Lukevich gave the invocation, in the form of a poem dedicated to the families of the graduands. They were followed by the first of three vocal soloists, graduand Oralee MacKenzie, who sang the very fitting "The Time Has Finally Come."

Principal Jim Hawkins was the first to address the grads, noting that it was "a beautiful day for the graduation of a very fine class," a class that he had truly enjoyed working with because of their cooperative attitudes, their responsiveness and their exemplary conduct. Hawkins said that 35 of the students have applied to educational institutions this fall, which shows that they are "planning for their future right now." He feels that the Class of 1990 "will always, always use the moment to their best advantage."

Nathan Bosvik was this year's valedictorian, and asked his classmates to join with him in celebrating the past twelve years together. "The important thing is that we know who we are, and what are goals are," he said.

The afternoon's second vocal soloist was graduand Marmie Quinney, with her number, "Somewhere Out There."

Class Historians Roseanne Wirsta and Sheldon Porcina had amusing comments to make about each member of the class, including each other, as they might be seen at their 10-year reunion in the year 2000. Superintendent of Schools Ted Cabaj presented scrolls, County of St. Paul School Board trustee Bill Ference presented County pins, Principal Hawkins presented school pins, and Students Union President Elena Drobot presented pins from the Province, on behalf of her father, MLA John Drobot, as each grad came forward.

Grad Class Presidents Christy Vinge and Bryan Bespalko expressed thanks to those who were instrumental in planning and producing the graduation exercises, and thanked those present "for sharing one of the most important days of our lives." Virginia Masse presented gifts to the two for their efforts throughout the year.

Cynthia Adkins was the final soloist of the afternoon, dedicating her rendition of "Wind Beneath My Wings" to the parents of the graduands.

Guest speaker was former FGM teacher Tim Martin, who entertained his "captive audience" with jokes, reminisced about such events as one student losing the classroom keys behind the lockers, another being the victim of a seagull deposit, "the Doorbell Sisters" and "the Kobasa King." "I remember special things about everybody, that's what it's all about," he told his former students. "Memories are great to have. They're something everyone gets, and are something to cherish. We want the memories of this day to be ones we can talk about with pride."

The grads, their parents and special guests later gathered at the Elks Hall for their evening banquet, at which Reverend Sam Donaldson asked the blessing.

Teacher Debbie Poulin proposed the toast to the Class of 1990, advising them to "enjoy this day, you really deserve it. We're not happy to see you go, but we're happy for you," she continued. "Now you can grab on to those dreams and fulfill them." Jim Onusko replied on behalf of the grads, thanking the teachers for their years of dedication and caring.

Lindsay Jenner and Monte Scott proposed the toast to the parents, thanking them for their years of devotion, love and caring. Reply was by Doris Ludlage.

Margaret Bayduza toasted the teachers, "those people who have chosen to spend their entire lives in school." Lily Pentek, in her reply, expressed a hope that the grads "will remember us as a positive influence in your lives."

Elena Drobot and Darwin Ference bid farewell to the Class of 1990 from their fellow students at FGM. "We've shared a lot of memories...we wish you the best."

Elk Point School Board Trustee Janice Van Maarion spoke on behalf of the School Board, "may all you've learned give you the confidence to be all you can be."

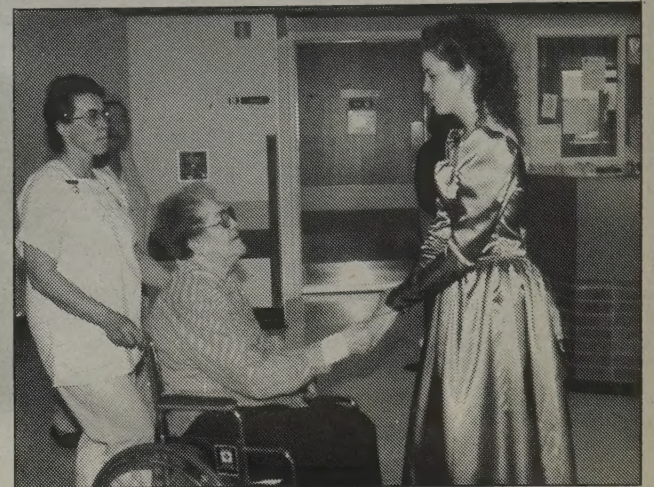

MLA John Drobot thought the grads "have been bombarded with enough advice," and instead offered one of his humorous poems, on the characteristics of teenagers.

Member of Parliament Deborah Grey was an honored guest at the banquet, and expressed her pride in the fine young men and women before her. She noted that in her graduation with the Class of 1970 — "seems like 20 years ago!" — the speaker had told the class that they were now a part of the adult world. "And I thought I was," she commented. "But then I went to the House of Commons. That was when I thought fondly of my Grade Eights (at Dewberry School)—I knew that THEY would grow out of that kind of behavior!" Miss Grey presented each grad with a memento of the occasion.

Guest speaker was Dr. Ken Miller, who delivered an address on behalf of his father, Dr. K. C. Miller, urging the graduands to consider their history, the characteristics of their ancestors which were required to make this country what it is today, and the challenges which they face in the future. The senior Miller's message asked the students to use their political, scientific and moral strength to keep today's society from self destructing, and urged them to "keep the ball rolling."

Kurt Kraemer was Master of Ceremonies for the afternoon exercises, while Robin Yakemchuk MC'd the banquet.

Grads Visit Hospital

Many of the graduands and their escorts paid a visit to the Extended Care patients at Elk Point Hospital after the graduation exercises. Here, Margaret Bayduza chats with patient Ella Livingstone.

Plans for VRC, Mural Park

Plans for the Visitor Reception Centre to be erected this fall at the Fort George - Buckingham House Historic Site, and for the park which will be developed in front of the Elk Point Historical Mural drew considerable interest from the good crowd which attended the Elk Point Historical Society's Information Evening last Wednesday at Elk Point Public Library.

Project Manager Larry Pearson and VRC architect Tony Eng were on hand to discuss the Fort George - Buckingham House project. Pearson gave an overview of developments to date, which included an 8 to 10 month analysis of the site which led to a comprehensive master plan for development. The master plan, he noted, assumes that "there might be a lot more money at some time" than the $1.38 million original grant, and includes future developments such as a replica of the Fort George stockade and buildings directly north of the original site.

Pearson said that a significant amount of work will be done with what remains from the $1.38 million, after last summer's archaeological exploration, the site analysis and work to date. Building a portion of the internal road system, a portion of the parking area, the Visitor Reception Centre and the trail from the VRC to the Fort George site will take much of the funds, with the rest going to signs and plaques at the fort sites, and the display in the VRC.

Edmonton architect Tony Eng told the Historical Society and their guests that the VRC is "a very challenging building," which must compliment rather than compete with the "gorgeous view" of the North Saskatchewan River and the nearby ravine. He sees the VRC as "sort of a threshold—you make a brief stop there to receive information about the historic site, what the people were like, how they dressed, what happened here 200 years ago," before going on to visit the site itself.

Eng wants a "low key building, sympathetic to the surroundings," but one which will offer 18 feet of headroom necessary for the displays. After studying the site, he decided that this is best achieved by building the exhibit hall at a lower level than the entrance, visitor services and staging areas. The VRC will be located as close as possible to the edge of the cliff, to maximize the views of the river, the Fort George site and the ravine. Huge windows on both sides of the lobby will permit visitors arriving at the VRC to look right through to the view beyond.

The 4000 square foot building will be "very simple," with a reception area, gift shop, snack bar and washrooms, staff offices, a staging area where visitors may be gathered for guided tours, a lowered area which can be used as a meeting room or lecture area, a covered outdoor picnic area and the exhibit hall. Construction will be of textured concrete and treated wood.

Eng emphasised that the VRC is still in the preliminary design stage at the present time, and asked for comments on his design from those present.

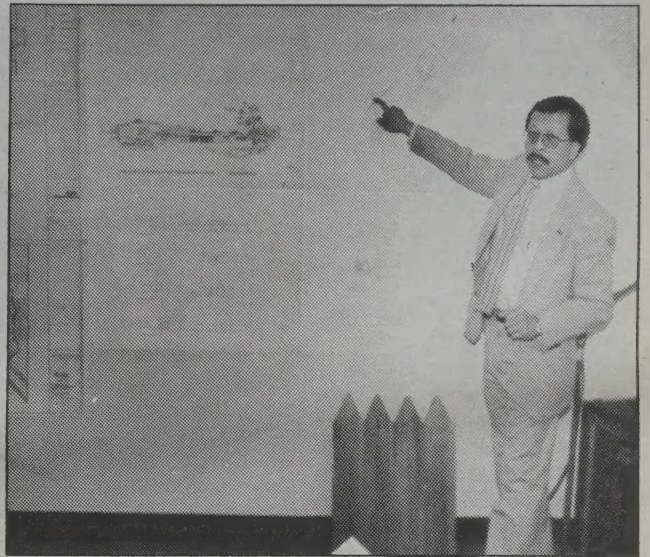

Mural Park Project Manager Sheila Thompson also had plans to display. Construction is to begin almost immediately on the park, located immediately west of the library and in front of the 100 foot long historical mural which was put in place late in 1988. Asphalt sidewalks, benches, a wooden bridge, parking area, lighting and signage are part of the plan.

"The first thing will be lighting," Ms Thompson noted. This will include floodlights to be mounted on the west side of the library, and lighting for the mural, which will shine up from flower beds in front of the giant artwork. Wiring will also be installed for future "listening posts" which will give visitors to the site a verbal description of the people and places on the mural. Following completion of the wiring, asphalt paths to and along the front of the mural will be laid, and a wooden bridge will span the little creek, joining another path which will lead to the library or to the parking area along 50 Avenue. The area will be landscaped and planted with grass, shrubs and flowers.

"The amenities will come after that," Ms Thompson noted, listing picnic tables, benches and even a gazebo, as funding permits. "We should see a lot of changes in the park this summer."

Displays of last summer's archaeological dig at the forts site, books pertaining to the fur trade, souvenir pins and spoons picturing the forts and the mural, and a table filled with snacks provided by the Historical Society were also a part of the evening. Your reporter was the lucky winner of the door prize, a Fort George - Buckingham House t-shirt.

Chamber getting set for summer

Elk Point Chamber of Commerce spent much of their meeting during National Tourism Awareness Week discussing, appropriately enough, tourism, and plans for the coming summer months.

Two Summer Temporary Employment Program positions have been approved for operation of the Tourist Information Centre, and the Chamber is awaiting word on a Seniors' Grant through the Lakeland Tourist Association which would provide further funding for booth staffing. The STEP positions run from July 2 to August 31.

The Chamber has been invited to relocate the Tourist Information Centre, if plans by a local businessman to develop a recreational vehicle campsite in town are given the go-ahead. The new site would offer easier access and additional parking for tourists visiting the Information Centre, which have long been noted as problems with the present location. The Chamber is considering the move, and has delegated a member to look into the possibilities of relocating, and report back to the June 6 meeting.

The colored version of Elk Point's tourist brochures was put on hold, until an application for Team Tourism funding to share the cost of printing the material is made. There are sufficient numbers of the black and white brochures, produced last year, to use in the meantime.

The Chamber, which can no longer receive funding for advertisement of local events through the Tourism Events Promotion and Advertising Program which was discontinued this spring, voted to make a $150 donation toward Canada Day advertising instead. The Chamber had done their part by advertising the event during the past several years when the TEPAP grant was available.

A Tourism Awareness Open House sponsored by the Chamber later that afternoon drew only a few visitors to view the Lakeland Tourist Zone Video and to pick up the latest in tourist information material. Among those who did attend was the Lakeland Tourist Association's Acting Manager, Sheri Heller of Isley.

In Our View

Participation

Doesn't this fine spring weather make you want to get out and enjoy the fresh air? The trees are leafing out, the birds are singing, and the sun is warm. Why not take advantage of National Physical Activity Week to take a walk, get out the golf clubs, shine up the canoe paddles, or pump up the bike tires--and PARTICIPATE!

Next Wednesday is Participation Day in Elk Point, and we especially urge you to take part in 15 minutes or more of physical activity that day, so you can call in and register as part of Elk Point's Participation Team. The percentage of Elk Point residents who participate will be a part of the national tally, as Canadians from sea to sea see which town, city or village will have the best percentage of participants.

But you don't have to wait for Wednesday to start getting active. Friday, May 25 is National Sneaker Day. Canadians are urged to wear their sneakers to work, as well as to play that day. Just lacing on the old sneakers makes you feel like running, jumping, turning cart-wheels...doesn't it?

National Physical Activity Week is a good time to start new habits, such as walking or biking to work, instead of driving (for those who live in or near town, that is). It's a good time to get involved in sporting events, to go out and plant your garden (that's exercise, too) or to spring clean the garage. Exercise doesn't have to be of the up-down-touch-the-ground variety to be good for your cardiovascular system--any activity that raises your heart rate and lasts for at least 15 minutes will do.

So get out and enjoy--participation is for fun, as well as physical fitness!

Alberta Trails

Spring in slow motion

By Irene Magnusson

Spring has sprung woefully slowly this year, offering hope with sunny days, then putting on the brakes with plummeting temperatures overnight. We have one 'hot' day, which starts the leaves popping, then follows a week of 'cool' and development slows to a crawl. Today, the forecast is for a nice, sunny, warm weekend, so I hope it materializes.

Graduation in this area has long been a May event, and always a time of celebration, that another crop of the young and beautiful have bloomed, in all their lovely feminine regalia and sartorial splendor, under the adoring eyes of family and friends. Everyone rejoices as the triumphant assemblage marches in, receives the accolades, marches out again, and the rejoicing is even greater if they all appear the following Monday (or Tuesday) to finish out their year--and their life. Congratulations to all the brave young graduates. May life continue to smile upon you.

Other spring faithfuls are sights of the farmers in their fields, stirring the soil, sowing the seed, all the careful, monotonous actions learned over long years. Techniques change, nowadays different methods are practiced, and certainly machinery has evolved by leaps and bounds, with huge contrivances now set to the tasks once performed by modest tools, powered by horses, even oxen, less than a century ago.

Still, the crops will develop according to the rainfall, so far delivered as allotted by nature, mostly unaffected by the hand or will of man. All man can do, really, is try to better understand the will and ways of nature, then try to fit his farming practices into this larger plan.

We who persist in planting gardens will have a certain amount of the necessary work done, at least a portion of the seeds under cover of the good earth. Some will have jumped the gun, and popped all their seeds in the cool earth, while others of us like to hold off, until old Sol has spread his warmth, so the sprouts will have a warm spot to cuddle. Still others of us are just too lazy to get it done so fast, and I hope to get some spuds planted next week. Yes, even then, they will sprout and produce all I can ever use.

This leaves my day with a couple of free hours, in which I'll slip over to the swamp and see how the marigolds are coming. It's unlikely they will be showing much gold, this early, when it's been so cool, but still--I have to go and see--don't I? Perhaps, in the woods, I may see that very large owl again, which posed so nicely for me last spring. There are so few small birds out here this spring, only one pair of robins and a few slate-colored juncos. And several large hawks.

Despite the cool spring and frost almost every night, the lilac buds seem to be developing well, and the earlier ones should be in bloom by June first, or sooner (if we miss the spring snowstorm). A few buds are forming on the flowering almond, those brave little blooms that burst out even before the leaves, and fill the yard for a couple of days with the sweetest scent. I'll always recall the May of 1986, with the little bush in full bloom, laden with snow, the pink flowers peeking from under the white, and all those robins hiding under the spruce tree.

I glanced out at the sun-bright day a few minutes ago. There was a strange bird in the birch tree, mostly dark grey, but with a bright yellow patch on his back, just above the base of his tail. I looked in my Field Guide at once, as he seemed unknown to me. But there it was, marked as spotted on "May 6, 1986, saw four." It was a female myrtle warbler, said to nest anywhere, almost, from here on north. These are not birds I see every day. So I hope she finds a user friendly spot and a congenial companion and raises a clutch of little warblers. We could use some around here.

I've noticed a couple of meadowlarks around town, one west, one in the eastern parts. I do hope some gun-happy potshotter doesn't get them. This is the second year they have appeared there, to my knowledge, after an absence of ten years or more. In my youth they were all about, making our springtimes worth the winters, just to hear their rich melodic warbles.

Another bright spring bird I seem to miss seeing about is the red-winged blackbird. Which may be because I don't go where they hang out as often as I once did. The very low water in the sloughs these past few years has probably driven them off to wetter pastures. Perhaps my best bet will be to go off to some lake and just sit out there and listen--and I plan this, if it ever warms up enough to suit me.

Later: same day. I have been to the swamp and inspected the marsh marigolds. As I feared, they are very slow, only small leaves showing, and not many of those. Even though I worked my way into the deepest, wettest nooks, I found only one bush with a few pea-sized round green buds. It will be a week or more before there'll be any gold showing out there. I did find six small (2 or 3 flowers) clumps of crocuses in the old farmyard, which surprised me, not having seen any there before.

Wandering back, under the cloud-strewn sky, I saw two large nests dark up in the treetops, and noticed a half dozen more little knee-high spruce, bravely trying to fill the spaces where trees have fallen in the old schoolyard. Life goes on, changes come. And soon it will warm up, I'm sure.

Nominations for Jr. Citizen of the year close May 31

Two local students are among the nominees for an Alberta Junior Citizen of the Year Award.

So far, candidates for the 1990 award are Michelle Ducet of Elk Point and Nicholas Kissel of Glendon. And there's still time to nominate other exceptional young people. Nomination deadline is May 31, 1990.

The Alberta Junior Citizen of the Year Award, sponsored by Alberta Power and TransAlta Utilities in cooperation with the Alberta Weekly Newspapers Association, recognizes and rewards exceptional young Albertans for good citizenship and community volunteer involvement.

Albertans, ages six to 18, whose cheerful enthusiasm and selfless commitment enhances the lives of others, are eligible. These people are not superstars or attention-seekers. They are caring individuals who consider sharing and giving as a reward in itself.

Award recipients are selected by a panel of newspaper editors and publishers from the Alberta Weekly Newspapers Association.

At a special ceremony held in their honor, award recipients receive a framed citation from the Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta, a cash award and an exclusive lapel pin. Every person nominated receives a personalized certificate by mail.

Take time to nominate a young person for the Alberta Junior Citizen of the Year Award. Nomination forms are available from the St. Paul Journal and your local Alberta Power of office.

Elk Point Pee Wee Wolverines

Young Ambassadors receive fair play medals

The Elk Point Pee Wee Wolverines hockey team travelled to Jasper, Alberta on May 10 and 11 to receive their Fair Play Award medals at the Rotary Club convention. The medals are a smaller version of the huge bronze relief of Wayne Gretzky, created by by sculptor Rudiger Schmidt, which was presented to the team at this year's Elk Point Minor Hockey Banquet.

The Wolverines were the recipients of the inaugural Fair Play Award for the Alberta Sports Council Zone 7 North Division. The award is sponsored by the Grande Prairie Rotary Club, which was very impressed with the Wolverines.

During the opening speech at the awards ceremony, some of the team's accomplishments this year were mentioned, including their first place standing in the Highway 28 League play, second place in the A side league finals, and wins in both the Norcen Cup and Rene DeMoissac Memorial tournaments. The fact that the Wolverines had a successful year and were very competitive dispelled any ideas that in order to win this award, one would have to have a losing team.

A letter from Elk Point Mayor Bruce Kleeberger to the Fair Play Award Board of Trustees was read to the more than 500 people attending the banquet at Jasper Park Lodge. In addition to Elk Point's pride in the team, the letter mentioned "the credit...to be shared by our local Minor Hockey Association and their executive, the team's capable coaches, the players themselves and their parents...schools, churches and civic government." Mention was made that the boys did their part to raise funds for the trip to Jasper, including picking garbage on roadsides.

It was a very emotional ceremony, and a few tears were shed by the parents who attended.

Numerous groups and local businesses contributed toward the Jasper trip, so that the team could be on hand for the presentation. These included Kiser Supply and Instrumentation, Amoco Canada, R. A. N., Elk Point Insurance and Realty, Tar-sands Steam Cleaning, Wozniak Texaco Bulk Sales, Tags Food and Gas, Elk Point Bantam Elks, Phil's Hardware, Elk Point and District Lions Club, Elk Point Elks Lodge, Windsor Salt, J. M. B. Crushing, Sparky's Oilfield Service, Leeway Heavy Oil, N. R. S. Lakeland Realty, E-Can Oilfield Service, Shamrock Valley Enterprises, B & R Transport, Dave's Pizza, Empress Family Restaurant, Woody's Trophy and Gift, Capitol I. D. A. Drugs, Town of Elk Point, Hillside Texaco, Riverhill Enterprises Ltd., and Elk Point Minor Hockey. A big vote of thanks to all of these generous donors for making the trip possible for the boys. It was an occasion they will never forget.

DANGEROUS WEAPON

Deep Tillage can make you a more efficient farmer. But if you come in contact with facilities buried beneath your fields, it can mean deep trouble. Remember, a good portion of Alberta's countless miles of underground cables and pipeline are buried in rural areas — possibly under your property.

Please, before you use deep tilling equipment, even though warning signs are posted, call Alberta 1st Call at 1-800-242-3447. One Call could save your life!

Heinsburg Spring Concert

By Irene Magnusson

One of the highlights of Education Week in Heinsburg was the Elementary Spring Concert on Friday, May 4, which featured recitations, dances and songs by students from ECS to Grade 6.

The ECS students presented a series of nursery rhymes recited by individual students, plus two group numbers. The Grade 1 class included poems, songs, a dance and choral speaking in their offering. The excitement and charm of the youngsters was most enjoyable, and good use was made of the microphone.

The Grade 2 group chose fancy dress to enhance their talents in recitation and choral speaking. Grades 2 and 3 combined to sing a song or two, then Grade 3 had their turn at the microphone for more recitations, in small and large groups. Grade 4 continued the theme.

Grade 5 had a good variety of poems and readings, along with some very good singing, accompanied by accordion music.

Grade 6, 13 children strong, sang "We Are The World," as certainly they are, as children have always been.

I quite enjoyed this Spring Concert, and was pleased to be invited. These youngsters had put in a lot of effort, as had their teachers and—no doubt—their parents. These efforts are commendable, and must bring satisfaction to all who participated. The stage was beautifully and cheerfully decorated, with colorful drawings against the white background. Lighting was good. Congratulations, Heinsburg!

Dressed Up To Welcome Spring

Heinsburg Grade 2 class entertained with choral speech numbers.

We Are The World

Grade 6 saluted spring in song.

Community Services News

Community Services Director

SENIORS DAY

Community Services staff are still seeking senior citizens who are interested in sharing their area of expertise or interest with other members of the public. As mentioned in an earlier edition, we are attempting to organize an information evening where senior citizens can gain recognition and understanding in addition to being honored.

Seniors are a natural resource and have much to offer the community. Many seniors have already been contacted and have agreed to participate at Seniors Day, June 8, 1990. Unfortunately, we are not aware of all the various skills different people hold. Therefore, we do require some assistance. Seniors, we would like to encourage you to consider your own talents and think about sharing your knowledge with others.

If you are a senior citizen and have a particular area of interest that you would be willing to share with the public on June 8, 1990 from 3:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m., please contact Stephen or Tracy at Community Services, 724-3800. If you are not a senior citizen but wish to increase your level of skills and knowledge, plan to attend the Seniors Day activities at the Pioneer Circle.

ADULT CHILDREN OF ALCOHOLICS

Adult Children of Alcoholics is an anonymous fellowship of men and women who wish to heal themselves and become aware of self-destructive behavior patterns through sharing their experience, strength and hope with each other. ACOA is self-supporting through its own voluntary contributions. It is not allied with any sect, denomination, politics, organization or institution, and does not wish to engage in any controversy: neither endorse or oppose any causes.

Its primary purpose is to heal through knowledge and help other children of alcoholics let go of the pain of yesterday, and through living today, gain hope for tomorrow.

Meetings of ACOA are now being held in Elk Point. The group meets every Tuesday at 7:00 p.m. in the Community Services Building. Although this is a meeting for Adult Children of Alcoholics everyone is welcome. For more information call Stephen at 724-3800.

Canadian Equestrian Federation

Western Rider Clinics

Over the past several months the Lakeland College, Vermilion campus, has been offering Canadian Equestrian Federation Western Riding Clinics, which have been met with great interest and enthusiasm by the riding public.

On May 5 and 6 the Vermilion Lakeland College hosted a 2 day CEF Riding Prep Clinic on Riders 3 and 4 at the Equine Arena. It was well attended with a varied age group, and covered areas in practical handling, theory, demonstrations, and basic riding skills.

Students were taught how to correctly lead and handle their horse safely on the ground, and how to start longeing their horse. (Longeing is when the horse travels around the handler in a circle on a 25 foot long line. It is used for schooling horses, taking the excess energy out of them before riding, or exercising a horse that can't be ridden for whatever reason.) Also covered were barn safety, proper bandaging techniques and preventative and emergency first aid. Students practiced basic horsemanship skills such as position, gaits, turn on the forehand and haunches, simple lead change posting to the trot and diagonals, and leg yield exercises. The clinic was set up with 2 certified CEF coaches instructing at the same time which allows for more riding time and individual attention.

The CEF Western Riding Preparation Program was designed to teach nationally approved methods of caring for, handling and riding the Western Horse. It is currently made up of Level I for Beginner Riders and Basic Horsemanship Skills, consisting of Rider Levels 1 - 4, and Level II for Intermediate Riders starting to compete, Riders 5 - 8. There is a standardized manual outlining the progression of skills required for each Rider level, and an examination by a Certified CEF Coach gives the student a diploma and certification at each Rider level.

Upcoming scheduled clinics at the College include a review of Rider 1 and 2 on May 25, open to anyone interested in the program and then an examination on Rider 1 and 2 May 26 for those who are ready. An Introduction to Western Riding in the Show Ring clinic will be held in June and is aimed at the 4-H members getting ready for achievement day and anyone interested in learning more about starting to show. A week long Riding School will be held in July covering the guidelines set out in the CEF Rider Prep. Program Riders 1 - 4, and special interest areas and various 2-day clinics slated for fall.

The CEF Rider Prep Program is a good introduction to basic horsemanship skills for any beginner rider or any experienced rider wanting CEF certification. For more information on the CEF Rider Program or the above mentioned clinics, please call the Northeast Alberta Area Delegate Charlene Baker at 724-2560, or Josie Veer at 724-3030.

AT THE GIRLS' ALL-NIGHT SLUMBER PARTY, THEY WATCHED "FRIDAY THE 13th," PARTS 1 TO 6, FOR ONLY 12¢

ELECTRICITY: A HORRIFICALLY GOOD BARGAIN!

When you've got both your TV and VCR on, they're costing you just over one cent an hour to run. That's all.

So whether you're watching the complete "Friday the 13th," or old Fred Astaire/Ginger Rogers musicals, it'll only cost you a few pennies.

Of course, some modern conveniences cost a little more.

A 700-watt microwave will set you back four cents an hour - on the other hand, you can microwave a lot in an hour! And a 1,000-watt electric corn popper - just the thing for an all-night slumber party - costs six cents an hour to operate.

In a day and age when the cost of just about everything seems so high, electricity is still a great bargain.
